

Parker Building Supplies features on TV restoration show

IN DEMAND BY THE EXPERTS YET AGAIN

Following last year's appearance on Channel 4's 'Grand Designs', Parker Building Supplies are proud to have again been chosen to appear on a TV makeover programme.

In this case, we were selected as the Builders Merchant on a prestigious project featured in Channel 4's 'Restoration Man' series which is to be aired this autumn. The show is presented by George Clarke, formerly Channel Five's resident architect and property expert who presented shows such as 'Property Dreams', 'A Dream Home Abroad' and 'Build A New Life In The Country'.

In Restoration Man, George travels Britain discovering forgotten and neglected property orphans, helping their new owners to sympathetically convert them into modern use. Lisa Walker, owner of the property which is the focus of the episode we are featured in says "Parkers provide a high quality service which includes providing sensible solutions to our problems".

One of the requirements was to source second hand clay roof tiles, hand selected to match the existing tiles. Parkers were called upon to supply high quality Bereco timber windows, and Allutec cast iron guttering and downpipes, similarly selected to be sympathetic to the original building and surrounding areas.

We also supplied rather more contemporary products such as top-of-the-range Fakro Roof Windows featuring electric openers and blinds, plus other essentials items such as Quinn-Therm floor, wall and roof insulation.

Trust Parkers to keep the most demanding clients happy even under the scrutiny of national TV !

George Clarke (above) has taught architecture and design at post-graduate level in schools of architecture including the School of Architecture and the Built Environment at Nottingham University.
